THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington, July 30, 1952.

Hon. J. BYRDEN HARTLEY,
Speaker of the House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

When Mr. SPRAGUE, Section 202(b) of the National Emergency Act (50 U.S.C. 202(b)) provides for the automatic termination of a national emergency unless, prior to the anniversary date of its declaration, the President publishes in the Federal Register and transmits to the Congress a notice stating that the emergency is to continue in effect beyond the anniversary date. In accordance with this provision, I have sent the enclosed notice, stating that the Iraq emergency is to continue in effect beyond August 2, 1952, to the Federal Register for publication. The most recent notice continuing this emergency was published in the Federal Register on August 1, 1951, 66 Stat. 367, 40990.

The crisis between the United States and Iraq that led to the declaration of a national emergency on August 1, 1950, has not been resolved. The Government of Iraq continues to engage in activities intended to stability in the Middle East and hostile to U.S. interests. Such Iraq actions pose a continuing national and extraordinary threat to the national security and foreign policy of the United States. For these reasons, I have determined that it is necessary to continue the national emergency declared with respect to Iraq and to maintain in force the broad authorities necessary to apply necessary powers in the Government of Iraq.

Sincerely,

Dwight D. Eisenhower

Notice

Continuation of the National Emergency With Respect to Iran

On August 3, 1980, by Executive Order 11938, President Bush declared a national emergency with respect to Iran pursuant to the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (50 U.S.C. 1701-1706) to deal with the unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security and foreign policy of the United States constituted by the actions and policies of the Government of Iran. By Executive Order 11938 of August 3, 1980, and 11939 of August 5, 1980, the President imposed trade sanctions on Iran and blocked Iran government assets. Because the Government of Iran has continued to engage in activities hostile to U.S. interests, the national emergency declared on August 3, 1980, and the measures adopted on August 3 and August 5, 1980, to deal with that emergency must continue in effect beyond August 3, 1981. Therefore, in accordance with section 1702(d) of the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (50 U.S.C. 1702(d)), I am continuing for 1 year the national emergency with respect to Iran.

This notice shall be published in the Federal Register and transmitted to the Congress.

George W. Bush.

THE WHITE HOUSE, July 30, 1980.
