Tens of thousands of dissertations have been written. That's not news.

But we can find the one you want in seconds. That is.

Finding the right dissertation at the right time is a problem. Compiling a bibliography of relevant titles means days—even weeks—of searching. It's a formidable, time-wasting problem for researchers and librarians.

Now there's a way that greatly reduces the time needed to put together a bibliography of pertinent dissertations. It's a way to quickly and inexpensively get actual research started sooner.

It's a service named DATRIX.

A computer is the core of DATRIX.

Here's what it does:

It performs a thorough search of the more than 126,000 post-1938 dissertations we have in our files (including 95% of those written last year at U.S. and Canadian universities);

retrieves, with computer speed, titles of desired dissertations; and prints out the desired bibliography. Positive microfilm or bound xerographic copies of the complete dissertations can be ordered.

DATRIX is another new service of University Microfilms, a pioneer in making the library a more efficient research tool.

Using DATRIX is simple and direct. With our order form and descriptive words selected from a key-word list supplied, the researcher defines his specific area of interest.

When this request is transmitted to a computer, a bibliography of relevant titles is printed and mailed to the library or individual so that they'll have what they need in working days instead of waiting weeks.
