

PROFILES

DAVID R. DOWELL has been named director of information and library resources at the Illinois Institute of Technology's James S. Kemper Library, Chicago. His appointment was effective August 17. Dowell was most recently assistant university librarian for administrative services at Duke University in 1979-81. Prior to that he held the position of assistant university librarian for personnel and staff development at Duke (1975-79) and head of administrative services at Iowa State University (1972-75).

David R. Dowell

Dowell recently completed most of the requirements for a Ph.D. in librarianship at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and he has begun work on a dissertation on the "relationship of sex to salaries of librarians in ARL libraries." His two master's degrees are in history and library science from the University of Illinois.

Dowell has been active in ALA and divisional committees. Currently he is vice-chair/chair-elect of the LAMA Personnel Administration Section, and in 1979-81 he was a member-at-large on LAMA's Executive Committee. Dowell has also chaired ALA's Professional Ethics Committee (1977-78).

He has had articles published in North Carolina Libraries, Colorado Libraries, Library Journal, and American Libraries, as well as a chapter on the "Role of the Supervisor in Training and Developing Staff," in Supervision of Employees in Libraries, published by the University of Illinois Graduate School of Library and Information Science, 1979.

Introducing

for more precise online searches at less time and cost.

If you shy away from online searching because your past results have produced bibliographies that are too general—therefore too costly—it's time you learn about the ISI Search Network. This new online information retrieval system helps you do comprehensive, high-precision searches faster . . . easier . . . and less expensively than you ever thought possible.

Through a variety of unique search capabilities, the Search Network is able to provide you with highly-focused, quality information. Its newest, most exclusive search capability is research-front specialty searching. To search with this innovative technique, all you do is check the Index to Research-Front Specialties which lists the research fronts accessible through the data base, then key in the code number of the specialty you wish to search. In a matter of minutes, you'll retrieve a high-precision bibliography of relevant articles in the specialty.

More value for your money. The ISI Search Network offers you another big advantage. It is operated by the same people who produce its data bases. This means that ISI online specialists take particular care to accurately mount each data base. Then they update the information for each one every four weeks so you are guaranteed of getting the most current data available. Furthermore, when you have a question about the system or the data base you are searching, all you have to do is phone an ISI online customer service representative and your question will be answered without delay. And you can request an ISI seminar leader to set up a hands-on workshop on any one of the data bases. Each lecturer is well versed on the ISI Search Network System and all the data bases accessible through it.

To date, these data bases include: ISI/BIOMED™ (the biomedical disciplines); ISI/CompuMath™ (mathematics and related disciplines); and ISI/ISTP&B™ (scientific proceedings and multi-authored books at the article level). Four new data bases covering the geosciences, polymer sciences, biochemistry, and the arts and humanities will go online in the near future.

Schedule an ISI Search Network Workshop at your facility. To find out how the ISI Search Network will give you the comprehensive, highly-precise online searches you want, at less cost, contact the ISI Seminar Administrator to set up a workshop for research or library staff at your information center. Simply use the coupon below.

- Please have the ISI® Seminar Administrator contact me at the number below to schedule a full-day workshop on the ISI® Search Network.
- Please send me a brochure on the ISI Search Network and the data bases available through it.

DEATHS

LUTHER H. EVANS, Librarian of Congress from 1945 to 1953, died on December 23 in San Antonio, where he has lived since 1977. Following his service at LC, Evans was director-general of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) from 1953 to 1958. In 1962 he was named director of international and legal collections for the library at Columbia University. He later became chairman of the Association for the World University.

Evans' first position at the Library of Congress in 1939 was as director of the Legislative Reference (now Congressional Research) Service. This followed several years of teaching at Stanford, Princeton, and Dartmouth and service as director of the Historical Records Survey, which resulted in the publication of many guides and other historical materials in the 1930s.

Evans earned a master's degree in economics from the University of Texas. He was awarded a doctorate by Stanford University and wrote his dissertation on "The Mandates System and the Administration of Territories under C Mandate," a reflection of his early interest in international affairs.

MARIAN B. MYERS who retired in 1962 as head of the Book Section in the Copyright Cataloging Division of the Library of Congress, died on October 1 in Bethesda. ■■
