

building has the capacity to house 1.25 million volumes, a 140-station public computer terminal area, nine classrooms, research office space, and the university Telecommunications Center. The O'Neill Library was designed by The Architects Collaborative, Inc., of Cambridge.

•The Center for Research Libraries, Chicago, is now accepting, within certain guidelines, the deposit of library materials from its member institutions. The amount of material accepted will be limited to quantities that can be processed and made readily available for use based on current staffing levels. The Center's ability to accept deposits of library materials was restricted for the past several years by a lack of adequate material processing staff and shelf space. Following the construction of a second building, the approval by the membership of a revised deposit policy, and a staff reorganization, materials may again be deposited under the new policy. Inquiries about type of materials suitable for deposit should be addressed to Esther Smith, Center for Research Libraries, 6050 S. Kenwood Ave., Chicago, IL 60637.

•The Northeast Document Conservation Center, Andover, Massachusetts, participated in the salvage of paper currency from the Andrea Doria safe and will perform the restoration of the soggy bills. Mary Todd Glaser, senior conservator at the Center, served as a consultant to the project and was one of two paper conservators on hand when the safe was opened on August 16. Glaser assisted in removing bundles of waterlogged currency and was shown during the live television coverage separating and examining the bills. The material will be freeze-dried and eventually sent to the Center for treatment. Once the bills are dried, they will be separated, washed for removal of salt, alkalized, and dried again. The Center will then experiment on a small batch of the currency to find measures to strengthen the paper—sizing or polyester film encapsulation are possibilities. ■■

Profiles

MILLICENT D. ABELL, university librarian of the University of California, San Diego, has been appointed librarian of Yale University, effective January 1. She succeeds Rutherford D. Rogers, who was appointed university librarian in 1969 and will retire in December.

Abell has been university librarian at San Diego since 1977. Her previous positions have included associate director of university libraries at SUNY-Buffalo (1973–1976), assistant director for undergraduate library services (1971–1973) and assistant librarian in the Business Administration Library at the University of Washington (1969–1971), reference librarian at the Colorado Springs Public Library (1966–1968), and reference/periodicals librarian at West Point (1964–1966).

Cr: Art Plotnik

Millicent Abell

Abell served as ACRL's 43d president in 1980–1981 and still serves on the ACRL Board of Directors as representative to ALA Council. She is currently chair of the Board of Directors of the Center for Research Libraries in Chicago. She has also served on the editorial board of the Journal of Academic Librarianship. In 1976 she was editor of Collective Bargaining in Higher Education: Its Implications for Governance and Faculty Status for Librarians.

Born in Wichita, Kansas, Abell received a bachelor's degree in psychology (1956) and a master's degree in personnel administration (1958) from Columbia University, an MLS from SUNY-Albany in 1965, and a master's in political science from the University of Colorado in 1969.

B. DONALD GROSE, director of library services at Indiana University-Purdue University at Fort Wayne since 1975, has been appointed director of libraries at the University of Massachusetts, Boston.

Grose received master's degrees in library science and English from the University of Kentucky and a Ph.D. in speech and drama from the University of Missouri, Columbia. At Fort Wayne he also held the rank of assistant professor of theatre and served as acting chairman of the Department of Theatre in 1979-1980. Prior to his appointment in Fort Wayne, Grose was assistant director of libraries at the University of Missouri, Columbia.

He is the author of several articles and two books. The latest, A Mirror to Life: A History of Western Theatre, will be published in December.

BOB CARMACK, dean of library services at the University of South Dakota, has been named director of the University of Wisconsin, Superior, Library, effective December 1.

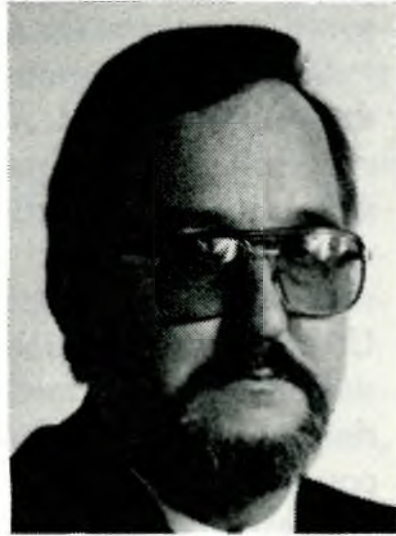

Carmack has been at South Dakota since 1971 when he accepted the position of director of libraries; he advanced to dean of library services in 1979. Prior to that he was assistant director for public services (1970-1971), undergraduate librarian (1967-1970), and assistant humanities librarian (1966-1967) at the University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

A member of the ACRL Board of Directors since 1983, Carmack also serves on the ALA Committee on Legislation and is chair of the ad hoc Task Force on HEA Title II-A. He has been ACRL chapter councillor representing South Dakota since 1981, chair of the ad hoc Committee on Funding in 1981-1982, and a member of the ACRL Legislation Committee in 1974-1976 and 1978-1982. He has also been active in ALA's Library Administration and Management Association, where he served as chair of the Buildings and Equipment Section in 1982-1983.

Carmack earned his MLS at the University of Denver in 1966. He has written articles for College and Research Libraries, Government Publications Review, and the ALA Yearbook.

JOHN C. VAN HORNE has been named librarian of the Library Company of Philadelphia to succeed Edwin Wolf 2d in January 1985. Van Horne, who graduated from Princeton in 1972, received his Ph.D. in early American history from the University of Virginia in 1979.

He is now completing, with Edward C. Carter II, librarian of the American Philosophical Society, a multi-volume edition of The Papers of Benjamin Henry Latrobe, the early 19th-century architect and engineer. In 1975 he published The Correspondence of William Nelson as Acting Governor of Virginia, 1770-1771, and has in press an edition of the American correspondence of the Associates of Dr. Bray, an Anglican missionary and philanthropic organization active in the conversion of blacks in the colonies.

Bob Carmack

RODNEY M. HERSBERGER has been appointed director of libraries at California State College, Bakersfield, effective August 1. For the past five years he was assistant to the dean for administrative services at the University of Oklahoma Libraries.

Hersberger held other administrative positions at the Northern Illinois University Libraries between 1975 and 1979. He was business reference librarian at NIU from 1973 to 1975.

Hersberger earned an undergraduate degree in accounting and an MLS from Indiana University. He also holds an MBA degree from Northern Illinois University. Hersberger has published in the areas of operations research, library finance, and building remodeling and renovation.

Rodney Hersberger

THOMAS M. PEISCHL has been named dean of the library at Mankato State University, Minnesota. He was previously employed at the State University of New York College of Arts and Science at Potsdam as director of college libraries. For the past three years at Potsdam he held a joint appointment as director of college libraries and director of computer services. Prior to that he held various positions in the library at the University of Northern Colorado.

Peischl received a bachelor's degree in history and psychology from Susquehanna University, a master's in special education from Temple, and an MLS from the University of Denver. He completed a doctorate in educational administration and higher education at the University of Northern Colorado.

Peischl currently serves as chair of ACRL's Education and Behavioral Sciences Section and is an active member of LAMA. In New York he was a member of the SUNY Computer Officers Association, the SUNY Head Librarians Association, and was the library representative on the SUNY Administrative Systems Committee.

He has published articles in Colorado Libraries, Special Libraries, and Online Review. His recent research focus has been in the area of institutional planning for the integration of information resources on campus.

CARLA J. STOFFLE has been appointed associate director for public services at the University of Michigan Library, effective in January 1985. Stoffle, currently assistant chancellor for educational services at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside, served as President of ACRL in 1982-1983. At Michigan she will be responsible for the development and evaluation of public services activities for 31 service units.

Stoffle began her association with Wisconsin-Parkside as a reference librarian in 1972, then was appointed head of public services, and in 1976 assumed responsibilities as assistant director. Earlier she had served as head of the Government Publications Department at Eastern Kentucky University (1969-1972) and was a library intern at the University of Kentucky (1967-1969). Stoffle also served as a Peace Corps volunteer in Barbados for two years after graduating from college.

During her tenure as assistant chancellor at Parkside, Stoffle has held leadership positions on

GODORT awards

ALA's James Bennett Childs Award is a tribute to an individual who has made a lifetime and significant contribution to the field of documents librarianship. It is based on stature, service, and publication which may be in any or all areas of documents librarianship. The winner is presented a bronze plaque with the likeness of James Bennett Childs.

The CIS/GODORT/ALA Documents to the People Award is a tribute to an individual and/or library, institution, or other non-commercial group that has most effectively encouraged the use of federal documents in support of library service. The winner will receive a certificate and cash stipend of $2,000 to be assigned to a project of the recipient's choice.

Each nomination should include:

- 1) The name of the award for which the person is being nominated.
- 2) Their name, address (both home and business), present employer and length of service, and past employment if applicable.
- 3) Activities, projects, publications related to documents work, with complete documentation, including examples.
- 4) Any other pertinent information about the nominee.
- 5) Letters of support including the signatures, names and address of the nominating individual or organization.

Nominations should be sent by December 15, 1984, to the chair of the GODORT Awards Committee: Barbara Kile, Fondren Library, Rice University, P.O. Box 1891, Houston, TX 77251-1892.

Choice and CBE announce joint venture

Choice magazine and the Combined Book Exhibit have announced a joint promotional plan for the 1984-85 library and academic conference season. The CBE exhibit will include a special display featuring Choice magazine and Choice Reviews-on-Cards, plus books reviewed in Choice submitted for display by publishers. The Choice display will be featured in the CBE exhibit at 32 national, regional, and international meetings from October 1984 through July 1985.

The joint promotional venture is planned to increase the visibility of Choice in the scholarly and library markets and, through CBE, to bring attention to the important books reviewed by the magazine.

Choice is the leading book and nonprint review publication for the academic library and scholarly book markets. Choice publishes more than 600 book, periodical, audiovisual, and computer software reviews in eleven issues a year. The Combined Book Exhibit is a traveling exhibit of books and periodicals submitted by publishers for display at library, academic, and other professional association meetings. CBE exhibits at an estimated 50 meetings per year enabling publishers to target their publications to specific audiences in many different subject fields.

Choice is a publication of the Association of College and Research Libraries and is headquartered in Middletown, Connecticut. The Combined Book Exhibit is a Faxon Company located at 100 Providence Highway, Westwood, MA 02090; (617) 329-7493. Contact Linda Tonkery, Director of the CBE, for more details on the 1984-85 meeting schedules. ■■
