Model statement on academic status

With the publication of the "Model Statement of Criteria and Procedures for Appointment, Promotion in Academic Rank, and Tenure for College and University Librarians" in this issue of C&RL News, the Academic Status Committee is turning to other matters of concern.

Many institutions do not grant faculty status to librarians and the Committee has been requested by several members to consider the development of a model statement on academic status. The Committee has begun discussions on the issues involved and will continue deliberations at the San Francisco Conference. Members who may be interested in this matter are encouraged to contribute to the debate by either attending Committee meetings or writing to the chair of the Committee, Keith Cottam, 1167 Inca Drive, Laramie, WY 82070.

ACRL programs in San Francisco

This year's conference programs feature teacher education reform, artificial intelligence, and remote access.

Anthropology and Sociology Section

“The Future of Social Science Research and Libraries: Toward the Year 2000” (Sunday, June 28, 9:00 a.m.–12:30 p.m.) will be devoted to speculation on the future of social science research and education, and how that future will affect both services and collections in academic and research libraries. Two prominent social scientists—Neil J. Smelser, professor of sociology at the University of California, Berkeley, and James L. Gibbs Jr., professor of anthropology at Stanford—will discuss their views on the social sciences in the year 2000. A panel of librarians (Barton M. Clark, G. Edward Evans, and Mark Sandler) will speculate on how academic libraries might respond to those changes.

ANSS will sponsor a tour of the Robert H. Lowie Museum of Anthropology at the University of California, Berkeley, on Tuesday afternoon, June 30, 1987. For further information see the May issue of “ANSS Currents” or contact Stephen MacLeod, Main Library, University of California, P.O. Box 19557, Irvine, California 92713.

Art Section

“Image and Imagination: Adapting New Technologies for Scholarship in the Arts” (Monday, June 29, 9:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.), cosponsored by the ACRL Audiovisual Committee, will feature speakers David C. Miller on CD-ROM graphic images, Brian O'Connor on computer analysis of images and their structural attributes, and Ching-chih Chen on interactive videodisc technology—especially her Project Emperor-I, a videodisc providing access to multimedia information sources for scholarly research in the arts. Two double-sided NTSC CAV videodiscs entitled “The First Emperor of China” will be used to demonstrate the enormous potential of interactive videodisc for fast, random, online access to a large multi-media information bank.
