

Q.

WHY
LIBRARY BINDING?

Library Binding is a special kind of binding developed primarily for libraries, and includes the initial hardcover binding of periodicals, the rebinding of used books and the pre-binding of new books—all in accordance with the LBI Standard.

By specifying low cost library binding for all your binding requirements, you can save thousands of dollars in your budget (amount dependent upon size of original budget) because each volume will withstand 100 or more circulations, over four times the number provided by a publisher's library edition. This new-found money can then be used to purchase new titles, thereby increasing the size of your collection without substantially increasing the budget.
