Library Use Fees

To the Editor:

In response to the issue of charging library use fees (C&RL News, January 1981, p. 5), we charge $10 per semester. In my estimation, this is not desirable. Since we charge students to use the library, we cannot allow the general public to borrow unless they purchase a Friend of the Library card for $25 per calendar year. This is particularly distressing to public school teachers, many of whom are enrolled in graduate programs off-island and are working on dissertations.

A university committee is studying the fee problem. There are a number of fees and the question is whether or not tuition charges should be raised to include fees, rather than having them listed separately.

Currently 50% of our materials budget comes from fees. Our collection would be in bad shape without this revenue.—D. Joleen Bock, Dean of Library Services, Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Library, Mangilao, Guam. ■■

Meet the C&RL News
Editorial Board

The College & Research Libraries News Editorial Board will meet in San Francisco on Monday, June 29, 9:30–11:00 a.m. ACRL members and other interested readers are invited to attend. The Editorial Board serves in an advisory capacity to the editor on the contents of the News issues. Jay K. Lucker, director of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Libraries, Cambridge, is chair of the board for 1980–82. The other members are: Linda Beaupre, acting assistant director for public services, General Libraries, University of Texas at Austin; Hiram L. Davis, director of libraries at the University of the Pacific, Stockton, California; Catherine Reichert, director of the Springfield Technical Community College Library, Springfield, Massachusetts; Patricia Glass Schuman, Neal-Schuman Publishers, Inc., New York City; and Jean M. Whalen, personnel librarian, State University of New York at Albany Library. Ex officio members: Lawrence J. M. Wilt, chair, ACRL Publications Committee, Millicent D. Abell, ACRL president, 1980–81; C. James Schmidt, editor, College & Research Libraries; and Julie Carroll Virgo, ACRL executive director.
