

Committee volunteer form

One of ACRL's greatest strengths is the active involvement of our membership in committee and other volunteer activities. Each spring, the president-elect or section vice-chairs appoint members to fill vacancies on committees. For the editorial and publication advisory boards, appointments are made by the Publications Committee, based on recommendations from the respective editors.

The ALA Handbook of Organization contains a specific charge defining the work of each committee, task force, and editorial board. The ACRL Guide to Policies and Procedures contains a section on the appointment process.
