

ACRL candidates for 2006

A look at who's running for office

Vice-president/President-elect

Cynthia Steinhoff is director of the Anne Arundel Community College library, a position she has held since

Cynthia Steinhoff

2001. Since 1983, she has held numerous positions at Anne Arundel Community College including acting director of the library (2000–01), systems and collection development librarian (1994–2000), collection development librarian (1993–94), and acquisitions librarian (1983–93). Steinhoff also served as assistant librarian at the Maryland Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (1981–83).

Her activities in ACRL include serving as cochair of the 2007 ACRL National Conference Invited Papers Subcommittee (2005–07) and as a member of the Choice Editorial Board (2003–07). Steinhoff is also chair of the ACRL Community and Junior College Library Section (CJCLS) Nominations Committee (2005–06), and she served as CJCLS chair (2002–03). She was a member of the Excellence in Academic Libraries Award Selection Committee (2004–05), was active on the CJCLS Ad Hoc Standards Committee (2000–03), and was CJCLS secretary (1998–99).

Her work with state and regional library associations has included membership in the Maryland Library Association, with service as chair of the Strategic Planning Team (2004–present), president (2000–01), second vice president and annual conference chair (1997–98), and secretary (1994–96). She is involved with the Maryland Community College Library Consortium (1992–present), and she is currently serving a term as chair (2005–06).

Steinhoff is also active with Citizens for Maryland Libraries (1999–present) and Potomac Technical Processing Librarians (1984–present) and was involved with Maryland Interlibrary Loan (1984–95).

Steinhoff was awarded the Anne Arundel Community College Board of Trustees Professional Development Award (2003), the ACRL/CJCLS Learning Resources Leadership Award (2002), and the YWCA of Annapolis and Anne Arundel County Tribute to Women in Industry Award (1999). Anne Arundel Community College Library was awarded the ACRL Excellence in Academic Libraries Award (2002).

Her publications include “Book review,” Community and Junior College Libraries, spring 2000, and “The coming restructuring of the library books vendor: A conference program report,” Library Collections, Acquisitions and Technical Services, fall 2000.

Steinhoff received her BS from Edinboro State University, her MLS from Clarion University of Pennsylvania, and her MBA from the University of Baltimore.

Julie Todaro is dean of library services at Austin Community College, a position she has held since 2001. From 1984 to 2001, she was head librarian at the Austin Community College Rio Grande Campus. Todaro also served as assistant professor at the University of Michigan’s School of Information (1980–84).

Her activities in ACRL include serving on the Grassroots Library Advocacy Presidential Task Force (2004–06), as a member of the C&RL News Editorial Board (2002–06), and as chair of the Council of Liaisons (2003–06), of which she was also a member (1988–90, 2000–03). Todaro served as cochair of the National Conference Invited Papers Subcommittee (2003–05), and as cochair of the Institute for Information Literacy (1997–99).

Todaro's work with state and regional associations has included membership in the Texas Library Association (TLA), with service as chair of the Legislative Committee (2003–05), chair of the College and University Library Division (1992–94), member of the Tall Texans Leadership Committee on Implementation (1992–94), and chair of the President's Committee on Committees (2004). She also served a term as TLA president (2000–01).

She has been involved with the American Association of Community Colleges as a commission member (2001–05) and was a Board member for Connections: A Resource Center for Childcare Providers and Parents Organization (1994–2004), during which time she also served a term as president. Todaro was an advisory commission member of the Austin Public Library (1992–97), and served on the Texas State Library and Archives Committee as a Library Services and Technology Act Advisory Board member (1989–92). She is also involved with the Texas Book Festival Advisory Board (1996–present).

Todaro was selected as one of the "2005 Profiles in Power" by the Austin Business Journal (2005) and was awarded a LAMA Certificate of Recognition for her column "Truth is out there" (2004). The Austin Community College Library Services Information Literacy Program was selected as an ACRL Institute for Information Literacy Best Practice (2002), and the library was awarded the ACRL Excellence in Academic Libraries Award (2001). Todaro was awarded the YWCA's Austin Educator of the Year Award (1999), and she was TLA's Librarian of the Year (1996).

She is a columnist for LAMA Journal ("The truth is out there," 1997–present) and Community and Junior College Libraries (Haworth) ("Nothing but net," 1996–present); she is coauthor of Extraordinary customer service (working title) (Neal-Schuman, 2006).
