Objectives

Hamdard Islamicus is an academic journal devoted to Islamic research and scholarship.

It serves as a forum for scholars to write objectively, analytically and, wherever necessary, critically on Islamic history, philosophy, science, art, culture, archaeology, law and jurisprudence.

It brings out the achievements of Muslims in the fields of Humanities, Social and Natural Sciences.

It aims at defining Islam in terms of its fundamentals in a rational and liberal manner emphasizing, at the same time, the basic Islamic ideals of universal brotherhood, tolerance and social justice.

It aims at interpreting the teachings of Islam in such a way as to bring out its dynamic character in the context of the intellectual and scientific progress of the modern world.

It provides an open forum for a dialogue among the Fundamentalist, Conservative and the Modernist schools of thought among the Muslims aiming at finding a balanced view.

It endeavours, through dialogue, to find Islamic answers to the questions relating to the social, political, economic and moral problems of the fast and drastically changing world of today.

It transmits through English translations the speeches, learned papers and discourses expressed in Urdu by highly qualified traditional scholars, the 'ulema', and, in this way, it communicates valuable material, otherwise inaccessible, to the non-Urdu readers.

It endeavours to promote better understanding between the Islamic World and the West.

MADINAT AL-HIKMAH
City of Education, Science and Culture

Shaheed Hakim Mohammed Said (1920-1998), a scion of the renowned South Asian Hamdard family, decided in 1948 to make the newly created Pakistan his home. He settled down in Karachi and by untiring, single minded devotion and commitment, braving all handicaps, created Hamdard Pakistan. He developed it into the leading pharmaceutical complex of Eastern Medicine in the country, run on the latest modern lines and techniques, supplying drugs of high quality and purity, backed with free clinical consultations to help ailing humanity. Hamdard Pakistan, under his leadership, also emerged as the leading philanthropic organization, and also tried to motivate people through dialogue, conferences, and journals like the Hamdard Medicus. In addition, he provided help to various institutions and academic bodies.

He was restless to do more, and during one of his Hajj pilgrimages, he envisioned the creation of a comprehensive City of Education, Science and Culture: the Madinat al-Hikmah. Work on it was initiated and funded by the Hamdard Foundation Pakistan in 1981, in the picturesque surroundings of Bund Murad Khan, 35 kilometers away from the city centre. Today it is a beehive of activity, with children and youth engaged in academic, technical and sports activities, devoted to promoting learning and culture, and through it, help achieve moral and physical welfare, peace and progress. The Bait al-Hikmah Library, Hamdard Public School, free Hamdard Village School, Centre for Horticulture and the Hamdard University are the major institutions found here. The Hamdard University's mission provides value-based education to all students in its constituent institutions. Its prestigious institutions – some based at the main campus and some in the city and some in Islamabad - include Hamdard Institute of Management Sciences (HIMS), Hamdard College of Medicine and Dentistry (HCMD), Hamdard Al-Majeed College of Eastern Medicine (HACEM), Shifa ul-Mulk Memorial Hospital, Naimat Begum Hamdard University Hospital, Hamdard University Hospital – Taj Medical Complex, Hamdard Institute of Education and Social Sciences (HIESS), Dr Hafiz Mohammad Ilyas Institute of Pharmacology and Herbal Sciences (HMI- IPHS), Hamdard School of Law, Faculty of Pharmacy and Faculty of Engineering Sciences and Technology (FEST). Madinat al-Hikmah continues to develop and grow.
