

Mykolas Baltrūnas is a psychologist at Veliučionys Juvenile Socialization Centre. He is a trainer as well as a national teacher for trainers of cognitive-behavioural correctional program EQUIP. Currently Mykolas Baltrūnas has been studying cognitive psychotherapy at Kaunas University of Health Sciences.

Lina Cirtautienė is a PhD in Psychology candidate at Vytautas Magnus University. She holds a Bachelor's degree and a Master degree in psychology from VMU. Her major research interests are global leadership, assessment of leadership effectiveness, and leadership in IT sector. She has been CEO at Psychological Consulting Group for nine years.

Viktorija Čepukienė is a psychologist at Psychology Clinic, associate professor at the Department of Psychology, Vytautas Magnus University (Lithuania). Her scientific interests cover outcomes of solution-focused brief therapy as well as an application of solution-focused approach in different domains.

Auksė Endriulaitienė is a professor of work and organizational psychology at Vytautas Magnus University. Her major research interests are as follows: work-related attitudes, leadership, workaholism and burnout; assessment of leadership effectiveness, teamwork in organizations, psychological issues of risky driving in occupational and non-occupational settings.

Giedrė Genevičiūtė-Janonė, PhD, social sciences, psychology. Vytautas Magnus University Agriculture Academy, Centre of Cultural Communication and Education, Department of Philosophy, Psychology and Vocational Education. Research interests: work motivation, employees' well-being, organizational commitment and its consequences for employees and organization, the importance of psychological characteristics in human resource management. E-mail: giedre.geneviciute-janone@vdu.lt

Virginija Guogienė, Vytautas Magnus University, Education Academy assistant, Vilnius, Lithuania, T. Ševčenkos g. 31, LT-03111 Vilnius, E-mail: virginija.guogiene@vdu.lt. Scientific and professional interests are developmental and education psychology. She is a member of the Educational Psychology Committee of the Lithuanian Psychological Association and has a EuroPsy Certificate.

Virginija Klimukienė is a PhD student in the Institute of Psychology at Vilnius University. Her research is on risk and protective factors of juvenile delinquency as well as risk management opportunities. She coordinated the implementation of cognitive behavioural correctional programs EQUIP (for adolescents) and

ONE-TO-ONE (for adults), and also the adaptation of violence risk assessment instruments HCR-20 and SVR-20. She is a member of Lithuanian Psychological Association.

Kristina Kovalčikienė, PhD, Social Sciences, Psychology. Vytautas Magnus University Agriculture Academy, Centre of Cultural Communication and Education, Department of Philosophy, Psychology and Vocational Education. Research interests: professional identity, career, thinking/cognitive styles, the importance of psychological characteristics in human resource management and education. E-mail: kristina.kovalcikiene@vdu.lt

Karina Kravčenko is a full time PhD student in Psychology at Vytautas Magnus University. Her main interests of research are social norms theory and alcohol consumption among youth. She is currently focusing on the relationship between descriptive and injunctive norms, alcohol use, and drinking motives among adolescents.

Ilona Laurinaitytė is an Associate Professor of Psychology at Vilnius University. Her particular research interests are centred on understanding of the nature, causes, and management of violence as well as on mental health problems among people in the criminal justice system. She was involved in adaptation process of several risk assessment tools in Lithuania (i.e., HCR-20, SVR-20, PCL:SV). I. Laurinaitytė is a national representative at the Board of Ethics in European Federation of Psychologists' Associations (EFPA), a member of the National Bioethics Committee, the International Association for the Treatment of Sexual Offenders, etc.

Alfредas Laurinavičius is an associate professor in the Institute of Psychology at Vilnius University, Lithuania. Alfredas Laurinavičius has worked on adaptation of a number of offender assessment tools OASys (Home Office, 2002), Hare's Psychopathy Checklist: Screening Version PCL:SV (Hart, et al., 1995), Spousal Assault Risk Assessment SARA (Kropp et al., 1999), Brief Spousal Assault Form for the Evaluation of Risk B-SAFER (Kropp et al., 2005), and took part in adaptation of cognitive and motivational programme ONE-TO-ONE (Priestley, 2008) for Prison Department of Lithuania. Alfredas Laurinavičius is a member European Association of Psychology and Law, a member of the board of Lithuanian Psychological Association.

Rytis Pakrosnis is an associate professor at the Department of Psychology, a psychologist at the Psychology Clinic of Vytautas Magnus University (Kaunas, Lithuania), a psychologist in private practice. Scientific interests: Solution-Focused Brief Therapy outcome research and application in different contexts; positive psychology; students' wellbeing assessment and nurturing.

Ala Petrulytė, Vytautas Magnus University, Education Academy professor. Vilnius, Lithuania, T. Ševčenkos g. 31, LT-03111 Vilnius, E-mail: ala.petrylyte@vdu.lt. Scientific and professional interests: Developmental and Education Psychology, Health Psychology, Creativity Psychology. Member of the Board and Chair of the Educational Psychology Committee of the Lithuanian Psychological Association; member of Standing Committee of Psychology in Education, EFPA; member of ISPA, EARA and ISBD associations.

Kristina Ražauskaitė-Pilipavičienė is an MA in School Psychology, an alumni of Vytautas Magnus University (Lithuania). Scientific interests cover various aspects of interpersonal communication both in adults and children.

Laura Šeibokaitė is a PhD in Social Sciences, Psychology. She works as an associate professor in Psychology Department at Vytautas Magnus University, Lithuania. Research interests: issues and difficulties of adolescence, problem behaviour in adolescence (substance use, aggressive behaviour, suicidal behaviour, etc.), risk taking behaviour in applied fields of psychology (emigration, driving, etc.).

Laura Ustinavičiūtė is a doctor of Social Sciences and a chairman of Applied Criminal Psychology Master Program Committee in the Institute of Psychology at Mykolas Romeris University. Her main research interests are related to the re-offending risk assessment, offender's supervision, as well as career development and work motivation. Since 2007 till 2011 she was the main working group member working on translation and adaptation of United Kingdom risk assessment tool of recidivism (OASys) for Prison Department under the Ministry of Justice of the Republic of Lithuania. As a researcher she participated in several international and national research projects such as "EU KIDS ONLINE II", "EU KIDS ONLINE III", etc. She was a Lithuanian representative of international networks of UPSIDE, Early Researchers' Union of ESDP, and a member of several organizing committees of international and national conferences. Since 2012 till 2016 she was a representative of Lithuania in the COST Action No. IS1106 "Offender Supervision in Europe". At the moment she is a member of Lithuanian Psychologists' Association.

Kristina Žardeckaitė-Matulaitienė is an associate professor at the Department of Psychology, Vytautas Magnus University (Lithuania). Scientific interests cover various aspects of gender and communication psychology as well as psychological interventions.