HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE MIRACULOUS STATUE OF OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR

The Ursuline Monastery of New Orleans, La., was founded under the auspices of Louis XV, King of France, by a band of French Ursulines, who, on February 22, 1727, set sail on the "Gironde" from Lorient, a port of Brittany, and reached the Crescent City on the morning of August the 7th of the same year.

Almost immediately after their arrival, the good Nuns began to teach the children of the Colonists, to instruct the Indian and Negro races and to nurse the sick in the Hospital placed under their care. As the years rolled by, reinforcements came from France to fill the voids occasioned by death; but in 1763, when Louisiana became a Spanish possession, the Ursuline Community then had to recruit its subjects from that nation. In 1800, however, Louisiana having been retroceded to France, great excitement reigned among the Spanish Religious, who feared a repetition in the Colony of the recent horrors of the French Revolution. Therefore, on October 4, 1802, the superioress, Mother St. Monica Ramos, a native of Havana, addressed a petition to Charles IV, King of Spain, requesting the favor to retire with her Community to her native city; and, without waiting for the royal answer, she, with fifteen Religious, left the Monastery of New Orleans on May 29, 1803.

Only seven Ursulines now remained; yet, full of confidence and zeal, they successfully maintained their Boarding School, Day School and Orphanage, as well as their courses of instruction for negresses. It was at this time that Mother St. André Madier felt inspired to appeal to a cousin of hers, an Ursuline in France, whom the Reign of Terror had driven from her Monastery.

Agathe Françoise Gensoul, in Religion, Mother St. Michel, was not only a person of culture and refinement, but was also highly talented and remarkably pious. Although expelled from her Convent of Pont-Saint-Esprit, and compelled to conceal even her title of Religious, she continued to cherish and foster the spirit of her holy vocation; and, at the first indication of religious toleration, she hastened to resume her apostolic labors with renewed ardor, endeavoring to repair the havoc wrought by the French Revolution. The task was not an easy one, as the guillotine, exile and untold privations had severed the earthly ties of nearly all her former Sisters in Religion, and to try to reunite the few that remained was utterly impossible. Yet, remembering that as an Ursuline she was in duty bound to devote her life to the instruction of youth, she determined to open in Montpellier, conjointly with Miss Sophie Ricard, another Ursuline, a boarding-school for young girls. This flourishing academy was fully realizing all the hopes which the Bishop of the Diocese had placed in it, when Mother St. Michel received from Mother St. André Madier, her cousin in Louisiana, the letter stating the penury of subjects in the New Orleans Convent, and which impelled her to abandon her own works of zeal to go to the relief of her Sisters across the Atlantic.

Numerous and almost insuperable obstacles stood in the way to debar Mother Gensoul from responding to her cousin's appeal; but these difficulties merely served to show forth more conclusively the miraculous intervention of Our Lady of Prompt Succor, as the following facts prove.

France was just issuing from the Revolution; ruins lay on all sides. As there had been neither Priest nor Sister to teach the young, the rising generation was encompassed by the appalling gloom of religious ignorance, devastated Monasteries, profaned Churches and desecrated Altars. A woman like Mother St Michel was a treasure for her country, for she was a person of no ordinary ability; and as her work as a teacher had already been crowned with wonderful success, her Bishop would not even think of dispensing with her services. When her Spiritual Director was consulted on the subject of her leaving for Louisiana, he would give no answer; and when Mother Gensoul applied directly to Bishop Fournier, the Prelate gave expression to his surprise, grief and firm opposition in these forceful words: "THE POPE ALONE CAN GIVE THIS AUTHORIZATION." . . . "THE POPE ALONE!" These words were equivalent to a determined refusal, for the Pope was in Rome. The distance was great; means of communication then were not what they are today; and, moreover, Pius VII was a real captive at Rome, held in custody by Napoleon and awaiting to be dragged to Fontainebleau. The gaolers of the August Prisoner had received strict injunctions to prevent all intercourse, even by letter, with the Vicar of Christ; consequently, writing to the Pope and expecting an answer from him were, seemingly, acts of folly. Nevertheless, on December 15, 1808, Mother St. Michel wrote to the Sovereign Pontiff. Having set forth her motives for wishing to go to New Orleans, she concludes thus: "Most Holy Father, I appeal to your apostolic tribunal. I am ready to submit to your decision. Speak. Faith teaches me that you are the voice of the Lord. I await your orders. 'GO' or 'STAY,' from Your Holiness, will be the same to me."

The letter had been written three months and no opportunity for sending it had yet presented itself, when, one day, as Mother St. Michel was praying before a statue of Mary, she felt inspired to address the Queen of Heaven in these words: "O Most Holy Virgin Mary, if you obtain a PROMPT and FAVORABLE answer to my letter, I promise to have you honored in New Orleans under the title of OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR." As an undeniable proof that Mother Gensoul's trustful prayer was pleasing to Her, and that She really wished to be honored in New Orleans under this appellation, Mary quickly performed the two miracles laid down as conditions by Mother St. Michel; for the letter left Montpellier on March 19, 1809, and the answer is dated Rome, April 28, 1809. This first condition of a "prompt" reply is all the more miraculous owing to the above given reasons of the captivity of the Pope. The second condition is no less marvelous, for we must bear in mind that Pius VII knew the state of affairs in France and the need of apostles like Mother St. Michel to regenerate it; and yet he does not hesitate to approve of her leaving for the New World, as the following extract from Cardinal Di Pietro's letter shows:

"Madame, I am charged by Our Holy Father, Pope Pius VII, to answer in his name. His Holiness cannot do otherwise than approve of the esteem and attachment you have fostered for the Religious state, and the spirit of the Institute of St. Ursula you have maintained. The Holy Father experienced the greatest consolation on learning that a Monastery of so useful an Order as that of the Ursulines, and which has rendered such signal services to the Church, is established in Louisiana, and that piety, peace, and the most exact regularity reign therein. His Holiness approves of your placing yourself at the head of your religious aspirants, to serve as their guide during the long and difficult voyage you are about to undertake. . . . ”

The two conditions of a “prompt” and a “favorable” reply had been fulfilled by Mary. Bishop Fournier was so surprised at this truly miraculous issue that he acknowledged himself vanquished, and requested the privilege of blessing the statue of Our Lady which Mother Gensoul had ordered to be carved, according to her promise, and which was to be the protection of the pious missionaries on their voyage across the Atlantic. On their arrival in New Orleans, December 30, 1810, this precious statue was solemnly installed in the Convent Chapel, and from that time the homage and veneration offered to Mary under the title of “OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR” has been constantly growing in our city and state and spreading far and wide all over the United States.

It does not come within the sphere of this brief sketch to relate all the favors, both spiritual and temporal, wrought through the intercession of Our Lady of Prompt Succor during the past one hundred years and more. The Chronicles of the Ursuline Monastery sum up these graces by saying: “Under this title, the Most Blessed Virgin has so often manifested her power and goodness, that the Religious have unbounded confidence in Her.”

Two historical facts are especially worthy of notice here: The fire in 1812, and the Victory of Chalmette in 1815. Devotion to Our Lady of Prompt Succor was only beginning to be known in New Orleans when, in 1812, a terrible fire ravaged the city. The wind rapidly drove the flames towards the Convent, and the danger being imminent, order was given to leave the cloister. Just then, Sr. Anthony, a lay Sister, placed a small statue of Our Lady of Prompt Succor on a window sill facing the fire, and Mother St. Michel prayed aloud: “Our Lady of Prompt Succor, we are lost, unless you hasten to our help.” Instantaneously, the wind changed, the Convent and environs were out of danger, and the flames extinguished. Witnesses of this prodigy cried out unanimously: “Our Lady of Prompt Succor has saved us!”

Jackson’s glorious victory over the British in the Battle of New Orleans, fought on the Plains of Chalmette, January 8, 1815, is another signal favor rightly attributed to the all-powerful intercession of Our Lady of Prompt Succor. Before the combat, in order to obtain God’s blessing upon the American arms, the weeping, terror-stricken wives, mothers, daughters and sisters of Jackson's valiant little band spent the night of January the 7th in prayer before the statue of Our Lady of Prompt Succor, in the Ursuline Chapel. On the morning of January the 8th, Very Rev. William Dubourg, Vicar General, and later Bishop of New Orleans, offered the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass at the Main Altar above which the statue had been placed, and the Ursulines, through their Superioress, Mother Ste. Marie Olivier de Vezin, made the vow to have a Mass of Thanksgiving sung annually should the Americans be victorious. At the moment of Communion, a courier rushed into the Chapel, announcing the glad tidings of the enemy's defeat. After Mass Father Dubourg intoned the Te Deum, which was sung in enthusiastic accents of the liveliest gratitude; for no one could reasonably doubt of the miraculous intervention of Our Lady of Prompt Succor. Jackson himself did not hesitate to admit of a Divine interposition in his favor, and came in person to the Convent, accompanied by his staff, to thank the Nuns for their prayers in his behalf. The vow made by the Ursulines has been faithfully kept throughout these long years.

Rome has officially approved "DEVOTION TO OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR." Most precious documents have, at different times, emanated from the Holy See, placing the Seal of Holy Church on this devotion and conferring special privileges upon it. On September 27, 1851, His Holiness, Pius IX, graciously authorized the celebration of the feast of Our Lady of Prompt Succor and the singing of the yearly Mass of Thanksgiving on January the 8th. A twofold favor all the more remarkable owing to the annually recurring "Privileged Octave of the Epiphany." This Papal Decree was promulgated in his Diocese by Archbishop Antoine Blanc, on August 6, 1852.

On June 21, 1894, His Holiness, Leo XIII, enriched with numerous indulgences the Confraternity of Our Lady of Prompt Succor which Archbishop Francis Janssens canonically erected in the Ursuline Chapel of New Orleans on January 8, 1895. By a new Rescript of Leo XIII in 1897, this Confraternity was raised to the rank of an Archconfraternity. (See p. 36.)

ace of the Sacred Congregation de Propaganda Fide, granted the signal favor of the “Solemn Coronation of the Miraculous Statue of Our Lady of Prompt Succor, exposed to public veneration in the Chapel of the Ursuline Convent, New Orleans”—this is the wording of the decree—and officially delegated Archbishop Janssens to crown the Miraculous Statue in the Pope’s name. This imposing ceremony of the Coronation—the very first of its kind in the United States—took place on Sunday, November 10, 1895, and was marked by unusual pomp and all the magnificence of the Catholic Ritual. Each year, the anniversary of this glorious event is commemorated at the Ursuline Convent by a Mass of Thanksgiving, followed by Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament and the chanting of the Te Deum.

On January 8, 1911, the Centenary of the arrival of the Miraculous Statue (December 30, 1810) was celebrated with a splendor recalling the grand ceremonies of the Solemn Coronation; and on Tuesday, January 8, 1924, the Blessing and Dedication by Archbishop John William Shaw of the new Votive Church of Our Lady of Prompt Succor—a superb monument of Christian art—rivalled in religious pomp, enthusiasm and wondrous beauty the magnificence of the preceding manifestations of love and loyalty to Louisiana's benign Queen, Our Lady of Prompt Succor.

The solemn Consecration of this new Shrine took place on the sixth of January, 1928, and this grandiose ceremony formed a fitting opening of the celebration of the bi-centenary of the foundation of the Ursuline Convent.

At the request of Their Excellencies Most Reverend John William Shaw, Archbishop of New Orleans, Most Reverend Cornelius Van de Ven, Bishop of Alexandria, and Most Reverend Jules B. Jeanmard, Bishop of Lafayette, in a decree rendered on the thirteenth day of June, 1928, by the Sacred Congregation of Rites, the Holy See approved and confirmed the choice of Our Lady of Prompt Succor as the Principal Patroness of the City of New Orleans and of the State of Louisiana, conceding at the same time, each and all of the liturgical privileges proper to the Principal Patrons of places.

Accordingly, each year, the Patronal Feast shall be celebrated on the fifteenth day of January, with the rite of double of first class, with octave, and with proper Mass and Office duly approved; permission being granted to celebrate one Mass, solemn or sung, of the same Patronal Feast on the eighth day of January, on account of the civic holiday.

May devotion to Mary under her hope-inspiring title of Our Lady of Prompt Succor spread far and wide! To invoke Our Lady under this sweet appellation, is it not telling Her that our needs are great and pressing, and that we hope and expect much from Her? Her power equals her love; therefore, our confidence should know no bounds.

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us!

NOVENA TO OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR

A Novena in honor of Our Lady of Prompt Succor may be made at any time during the year; and for any favor desired, either spiritual or temporal.

The solemn public Novena preparatory to the feast of Our Lady of Prompt Succor is made annually before the Miraculous Statue in the Votive Church at the Ursuline Convent, from December the 30th to January the 8th.

It is very appropriate, moreover, to make a novena to Our Lady of Prompt Succor during the nine days preceding the principal feasts which the Church celebrates in her honor.

FIRST DAY

When we wish to obtain some special favor through the intercession of Our Blessed Lady, the first disposition to bring to prayer is the humble recognition of our unworthiness, for it is the prayer of the contrite and humble heart that penetrates the skies and rises to the very throne of God.

PRAYER

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, O Most Holy Virgin, Thou art, after Jesus, our only hope. Thou whose merits have raised Thee high above Angel Choirs to the very throne of the Eternal, and whose virginal foot crushed the head of the infernal serpent, art strong against the enemies of our salvation. Placed between God and His Church, Thou art our Mediatrix most kind and loving. Hasten, then, to our help, and as Thou didst once save the City of thy predilection from ravaging flames and our Country from an alien foe, do Thou now have pity on our misery, and obtain for us (Here name the particular favor you desire.) Deliver us from the wiles of Satan, assist us in the many trials which beset our path in this vale of tears, and be Thou to us truly OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR, now and especially at the hour of our death. Amen.

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us. (Three times.)

The Our Father, Hail Mary, and Glory be to the Father, may be added, with the prayer, "O Mary, Mother of God," and the Litany of Our Lady of Prompt Succor.

SECOND DAY

Filial resignation to God's Holy Will is the second disposition required for the obtaining of special graces. This disposition is especially necessary when we ask for temporal favors, as we cannot be certain whether they are conducive to our salvation or not.

PRAYER

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, O Virgin most pure and Mother of the Word Incarnate, Thou art the dispenser of all graces and the refuge of poor sinners. With lively faith and unbounded confidence we have recourse to thy maternal love and we beg of Thee to obtain from Thy Divine Son the favors we now implore. . . . (Here name the special grace desired.) With filial trust we place our hearts under Thy motherly care, beseeching Thee to obtain for us the all-important grace of perfect conformity to God's Will; and do Thou, O Mary, show Thyself to be OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR, especially at the hour of our death. Amen.

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us. (Three times.)

Our Father, etc., as on first day.

THIRD DAY

A profound respect for the exalted dignity and sublime prerogatives of Mary is an excellent means to draw down upon us Heaven's choicest blessings.

PRAYER

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, O Mary Immaculate, Thou art the model of all virtues, the path by which we go to Jesus, the mysterious channel through which divine favors are imparted to us. O Thou who hast such power over the Heart of Jesus, hasten to our assistance and obtain our earnest request (Here name the favor desired.) In Thee, O Mary, we put our trust, let it not be said that our hopes have been frustrated. O Mother most chaste, be Thou our strength against temptation, our help in danger, our consolation in sorrow, but especially be Thou OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR at the hour of death. Amen.

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us. (Three times.)

Our Father, etc., as on first day.

FOURTH DAY

A filial eagerness in striving to fathom the treasures of holiness contained in the Heart of Mary, the most loving and lovable of Mothers, is another means of obtaining Our Lady's special protection.

PRAYER

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, living Temple of the Holy Ghost and Queen of Heaven and earth, behold us prostrate at Thy feet to offer Thee the filial homage of our hearts, to thank Thee for the innumerable favors Thou hast obtained for us, and to implore, through Thine all-powerful intercession, the graces we need, especially (Here specify the favor desired.) O Mary, be Thou truly to us "Mary," that is, our shield against the darts of temptation, our solace in the midst of trials and afflictions, our firm hope, sweet consolation and PROMPT SUCCOR at the hour of death. Amen.

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us. (Three times.)

Our Father, etc., as on first day.

FIFTH DAY

To acquire a special right to the protection of Mary, one of the surest means is to keep ourselves in the state of grace and endeavor to please Her by imitating her virtues.

PRAYER

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, Virgin most powerful and Mirror of Justice, who didst offer Thyself totally to God for the perfect accomplishment of His Holy Will, do Thou make us generous in sacrifice. We have recourse to Thee to obtain the graces we need, especially (Here name the favor desired.) O Mary, Our Lady of Prompt Succor, heavenly Protectress of souls devoted to Thy Divine Son, do Thou deign to bless us each day of our mortal pilgrimage, cast upon us Thine eyes of mercy, and after our exile, show unto us Jesus, Thy Son and our Brother. Amen.

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us. (Three times.)

Our Father, etc., as on first day.

SIXTH DAY

A tender love for Mary is another efficacious means of obtaining her favors. Since love can be requited only by love, what should not be our sentiments of filial affection for so generous and loving a Mother?

PRAYER

O Mary, Our Lady of Prompt Succor, bright Star of the Sea shining upon life's stormy ocean, we raise our hearts to Thee in our pressing needs and implore Thy speedy help, especially to obtain (Here specify the desired favor.) Shining Star of our tempest-tossed souls, do Thou benignly guide us amongst temptation's heaving billows and treacherous shoals, and lead us safely into eternity's peaceful harbor. O sweetest of Mothers, we seek Thy PROMPT SUCCOR now and at the hour of our death. Amen.

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us. (Three times.)

Our Father, etc., as on first day.

SEVENTH DAY

Mary's love for us is tender and generous. Our love for Her should have as characteristics: deep gratitude, filial confidence, and ardent zeal. We should endeavor, by good example and the spirit of sacrifice, to procure Our Lady's honor and glory and propagate devotion to Her under Her sweet title of PROMPT SUCCOR.

PRAAYER

O Mary, Our Lady of Prompt Succor, Thou whose protection is so powerful and whose help is so prompt and efficacious, we come to lay at Thy feet all our cares and sorrows, to place into Thy hands all our hopes, to entrust to Thee all our interests both spiritual and temporal. Deign, O Most Holy Virgin, to assist us and obtain the graces we now ask, especially (Here mention the favor desired.) O Mother of PROMPT SUCCOR, close not Thine ears to our earnest supplications, but rather hasten to our help now and at the hour of our death. Amen.

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us. (Three times.)

Our Father, etc., as on first day.

EIGHTH DAY

Confidence is an excellent and necessary means for obtaining Mary's protection. Our Lady of Prompt Succor will bestow favors upon us in proportion to our filial trust in her all-powerful intercession.

PRAYER

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, Sanctuary of every virtue, Thou who wast chosen amongst all women to be the Mother of our Redeemer, be Thou our advocate and protectress. To Thee do we raise our hearts and hands imploring Thy powerful intercession to obtain the favors we ask, especially (Here mention the grace desired.) Assist us by Thy mediation, O Mary, that Thy Divine Son may shower His blessings upon us now and at the moment of our death. Amen.

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us. (Three times.)

Our Father, etc., as on first day.

NINTH DAY

Mary became our Mother on Calvary's Crest. We are the children of her tears and sorrows. On this last day of our Novena, let us take the resolution ever to foster a true and tender devotion to our Immaculate Mother of Prompt Succor, to cast all our cares and anxieties into her maternal Heart. Our confidence will not remain unrewarded.

PRAYER

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, Queen of the Universe and Sovereign full of benignity, Thou art the advocate of sinners, a haven of safety to the shipwrecked, the health of the sick and infirm, the consolation of the afflicted, the refuge and salvation of all on earth. Do Thou, O Mary, grant us, we beseech Thee, the help of Thy prayers to obtain the graces we implore, and in particular (Here name the favor desired.) Let Thy maternal Heart be touched by our misery; hasten to our assistance and be to us, now and at the hour of our death, OUR LADY OF PROMPT SUCCOR. Amen.

Our Lady of Prompt Succor, hasten to help us. (Three times.)

Our Father, etc., as on first day.

A PRAYER ASCRIBED TO ST. BERNARD

Remember, O most loving Virgin Mary, that never was it known that anyone who fled to Thy protection, implored Thy help, and sought Thine intercession, was left forsaken. Inspired with this confidence, I fly unto Thee, O Virgin of virgins, my Mother. To Thee I come; before Thee I stand, sinful and sorrowful. O Mother of the Word, despise not my words, but graciously hear and grant my prayer. Amen.

We fly to Thy patronage, O holy Mother of God, despise not our petitions in our necessities, but deliver us from all dangers, O ever glorious and blessed Virgin. Amen.
